Current

As humans, we have an implicit desire to engage in all areas of human endeavors. As Christians, we have the exceptional experience of engaging in these areas with purpose and reason. This experience can only come after the reforming work of the Holy Spirit.

We are commanded not to be sequestered in mediocrity and indifference, but we are to utilize all of our talents, resources, and aspirations in a gamut of movement that encompasses all aspects of life — taking us through a FULL RANGE OF MOTION.

Festival '86

Once again, the tradition continues . . . Festival '86. With top recording artist Tom Franzak headlining with Roger Cooper, the music was well produced and performed. The entertainment also included local favorites such as Auto-de-Fe and Gena Jeffries. There were food stands along with face painting and a fun photo booth provided by different campus groups.

The atmosphere of fellowship and worship was done through the well appreciated efforts of Jeff Pluth and his hard working volunteer staff.

(Captions from upper left corner.) Tom Franzak entertains, encourages and teaches us how to dress. Alumnus Gena Jeffries hits the high note. Jeff, Isaac and James "dance as David danced." Send in the clowns? Don't bother, Tom's already here. Are you in here? A C.C.C. favorite, Roger Cooper leads the festival crowd in worship. Festival — an event for all ages.

Ragtime Review

Paper throwing, foot stamping, hand clapping along with booing, laughing, and whistling — the sights and sounds of Rip Roarin' Ragtime Review.

This annual event, put on by Alpha Psi Omega, included many fun and fascinating acts. Some of the highlights of this year's Ragtime were an extremely agile acrobatic group — the Flying Zucchini Brothers, a dramatic mime, a highly competitive special olympics, some very exciting wrestling matches, and of course, no Ragtime is complete without the appearance of the lovely Lola LaBoom. Overall, the night was a celebration of true talent and questionable talent alike.

(Captions from upper left corner.) Legs in cognito. The bad guy always wears black. The zucchini brothers — Hey! Watch out Broadway — here we come. Do you want Bobbi Jo and Ingrid under your tree? Sweats de Collage. Now girls, must we fight?

Fall Dinner

On the night of October 10, 1986 a select group of C.C.C. students took a step back in time to the year 1850. Mrs. Hart opened her Victorian mansion to cater a candlelight dinner for her distinguished guests. Music by the Highland String Quartet lightened conversation and created a romantic atmosphere. The night quickly came to an end and reluctantly C.C.C. guests returned to 1986. The memory it made will never be forgotten.

(Captions from upper left corner.) The tone of the evening was romantic yet light-hearted. Program Council Director Jeff Pluth worked hard to make the Fall Dinner a success. A late evening rain enhanced the atmosphere. Hostess Miki Varvil attends to the needs of her guests. The house swelled with the sounds of the past from the Highland String Quartet. The welcoming party of Neva, Sarah, and Stefany greeted guests as they arrived and departed from the Hart mansion. Dan and Kristin appeared in period costumes appropriate for the occasion. A toast ... to past, present, and future memories.

Glen Eyrie

This year's two-day Glen Eyrie retreat was a time for CCC students and faculty to focus in on our relationships with God and to see what true spirituality means. The series of messages on true spirituality was brought to us by Rod Cooper, and the worship and praise were led by Roger Cooper. Aside from the teaching and worship sessions, there was time for interaction and fellowship through group activities. There were snow sculptures, hikes, tug-of-wars, and frisbee throwing contests. It was a refreshing time of reflecting and renewing ourselves.

(Captions from upper left corner.) "The city does not need the sun or the moon to shine upon it, for the glory of God gives it light, and the Lamb is its lamp." The castle at the Glen. Rod Cooper teaching and exhorting us to true spirituality. Snow sculptures — the college student's art. The only tension at the retreat was the tug-of-war. Scott and Matt are just waiting to get a clear shot of . . .

The Disciplines

Arts and Humanities

The Arts and Humanities Dept. at CCC has grown and changed. It has become rich with knowledgeable teachers and well developed programs. In a world changing and moving so quickly, it is important to grasp what has shaped and what continues to enrich the world. The Arts and Humanities classes, activities, and programs are a key part of CCC.

(Captions from upper left corner.) Head of the drama department, Teresa Choate, brings culture to our stage. Between his bad puns and poor jokes, Allen Schantz finds time to head the music department. Music is hard work and committed practice. "With my mouth I will extol the Lord, in the great throng I will praise him." Ps. 109:30. Ron Garber has created beautiful music with the dedicated voices that he deals with. Rick Scheideman puts forth his creativity as head of the humanities department. The stage is set for a moving and thought provoking play. Paul Thorsen works with contemporary Christian Music majors.

Biblical Studies and Ministries

At the foundations of CCC are its Biblical principles and ways of outreach. Students are developing techniques in expository preaching, instructional directions in the Bible, and skills in communication. Through the discovery of these the necessary theological tools bring the entire Biblical Studies program together. This forms a stronger view and understanding of the doctrines of Christian theology. Ministry programs aid students by discussion and situations that prepare them to counsel in different settings.

Natural and Social Sciences

Especially for the believer, science is a fascinating area; for it reveals how awesome our God really is. Students participate in biological investigations and chemical inventions as well as conversations dealing with people and personal problems at CCC. God is indeed marvelous! What He has done to create natural and social sciences is fascinating.

(Captions from upper left corner.) Don Koehler, a constructive and intuitive professor, is head of the psychology department. Gary Oswald is head of the business department. Greg Calhoun, Biology major, is also a lab instructor. What more can we say? Dr. Marlatt, Academic Dean, brings much to the Political Science department. Our drug supply.

The Portfolio

Administration and Staff

Underneath the surface, CCC is a complex machine that needs each part to keep it running smoothly. The administration includes a group of talented people who keep CCC going. They are always helpful and easy to talk to. From the president, Dr. Joe Wall, and his staff, to David Hayes, maintenance, and his staff, the administration is key to CCC. They help recruit students to come to CCC and help keep them in college by financial aid. They make the tedious task of registration so much easier. All in all the administration and staff allow Colorado Christian College to exist by helping out the students.

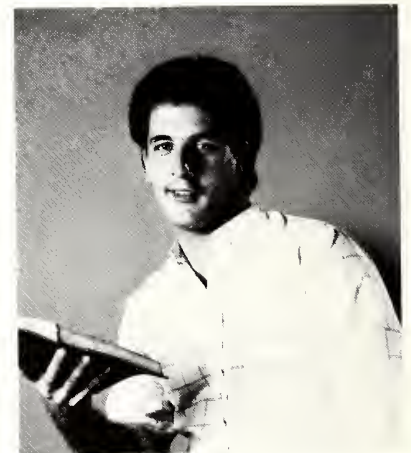

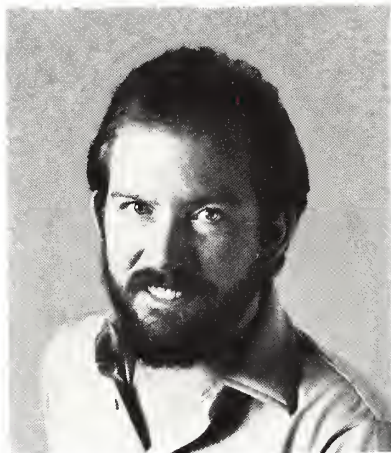

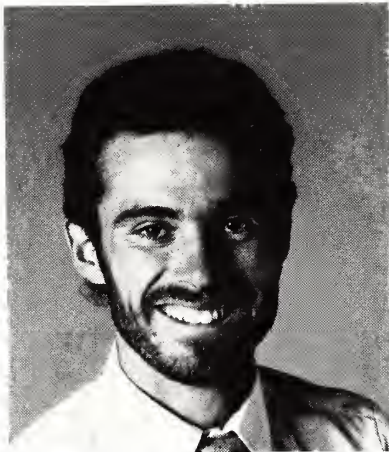

(Captions from upper left corner.) Liz Emerson contributes her skills to the admissions office. Elsie Fick makes visiting the registrar's office a pleasant experience. As head of the admissions dept., Susan Walker brings many new students into the school. The man who keeps it all running, Dave Hayes, Chief of Maintenance. Dr. Wall's talents extend from the administrative offices to the classroom. The team in the business office assist Bob Rush.

Allow me to speak as a fool and boast about who we are and what we go through:

Are the faculty human? So are we!
Are they intelligent? So are we!
Are they Christian? So are we!
Are they Christian? (I am out of my mind to talk like this.) We are more!

We have worked much harder, been imprisoned in the library,
We at times have lost view of worldview.

Five times we have studied all night,
Three times we passed.

Our tiny brain cells have been beaten
by Wall, slapped by Choate, kicked by Koehler, and snuffed by Smith.

We are in danger of the water, in danger of geese droppings, and in danger of bankruptcy.

We know hunger and the taste of warm
Spam on stale bread.

Besides everything else, we face
daily the pressure of our roommates,
the unforeign smell of dirty clothes and the groanings and howls of wrestless nights — tossings and turning over the ever present nightmare of facing those same profs
in a few short hours.

Will we survive? YES!
Will we graduate?

STUCO and Program Council

At the basis of CCC is its students and their participation in it. Student Council represents the student's ideas and dreams for the school. By pursuing many dreams and ideas, a new organization sprung into action this year. Under the direction of Jeff Pluth, Program Council structured fun activities for the students of CCC. Events such as Festival '86 to the Jaws movie extravaganza were created and put into action by Program Council. Program and Student Councils will continue their work as CCC continues to grow.

Program Council — Diane Matthews, Miki Vavril, Ted Looney, Sarah Palmer, Kristin Martinique, Stefany Scheideman, Paul McCabe, Neva Edmunds, Jeff Pluth (Director), Ralph Henning, Rick Larsen, and Grace Stokes, and Carrie Jones confer in the meeting. Student Council — Robert Currier — President, Ralph Henning — Vice Pres., Ron Hill — Treasurer, Greg Calhoun — Secretary, John Meschke — Senior Rep., John McNeel — Fresh. Rep., Carrie Jones — Off-Campus Rep.

Student Missionary Fellowship is dynamite! Under the direction of Henry Pyle and Sandy Amaya they inform the student body of world needs and motivate them to investigate world missions. Meeting twice weekly, for an educational time on Thursdays and for a fellowship time on Tuesdays (commonly billed as TNT — Tuesday Nights Together), they do much to encourage the CCC student body toward world missions.

Yearbook

Headed by Sarah Palmer, the yearbook staff struggled its way through the production of the yearbook. It was long nights and upsetting deadlines. But through all the hard work and Diet Pepsi came what we hope will be an excellent specimen of our year. The 1986-1987 theme "full range of motion" is expressed throughout the book. Colorado Christian College is an exciting young school full of hope and promise, motion and movement. We hope this yearbook expresses the enthusiasm of the school and its wonderful dedicated people.

RA's

Dear Lane, Donna, Yolanda, Scot, Bobbi Jo, Cynthia, Tommy, Juanita, Joyce, Greg, and Scott, I thought it might be appropriate to send you one last memo — one I know you won't be able to throw away. We've come a long way since August 22, 1986. I think back to that first week of training — the expectations we had of the job and of each other. For new R.A.'s it was the excitement and idealism of being able to make an impact on everyone in their stairwell; for returning R.A.'s, it was no less exciting, but was the reality of many late nights, long meetings, hurting people and trying to get students excited about stairwell fellowships. I've seen each of you struggle and grow; fail and succeed. You've experienced pain and pressure as few others have, but along with that comes the joy and satisfaction that can only be known by being an R.A. Thanks for all your hard work and for the sacrifices you've made this year. Thanks too for the encouragement and support you've been to me. I hope that when you look back on this year your memories will be filled with the friendships you've made in your stairwells, and the special friendships we've made with each other.

As on August 22, it is my continuing prayer for you that in the midst of your joy and pain, struggles and victories, that you will find that "secret place with Him alone." Because of Him, Kendall

roomchecks to go to. G.I. Joe (Lane Palmer) meets Raggedy Ann (Joyce Harkins). "... Red and Yellow, Black and White, Yolanda Greene and Scott Eaton are precious in his sight ..."
Greg Sonnenberg does everything a little different. (Just visit his stairwell).

Stairwells

From scavenger hunts to crazy secret pals to times of sharing, stairwell fellowship is a wonderful time of growth. Under the skillful leadership of the R.A.'s, the meetings allow people to change, grow, and deepen their relationships. The craziness and fun is also another dimension of the stairwell. The basic element of all the stairwell meetings was the development of friendships, growth with God, and the unity of a variety of people that is sure to last a lifetime.

The Fine Arts

Mainstream

Mainstream is a jazz ensemble centered on developing quality music for Christian ministry. It has performed in many places, including various churches and CCC chapel. Its members include: Ken on guitar; Lori on vocals; Peter on trumpet; Barry on keyboards; Paul on trumpet; Joyce on vocals; Karin on vocals; David on bass; Wayne on sound; Scott on drums; Leslie on flute and keys; and Carolyn on keyboard. Mainstream produces enjoyable music and allows for some audience participation.

(Captions from the upper left corner.) Lori and Joyce sing out to the Lord. Scott the little drummer boy. "Come on, David, cheer up!" Russ and Carin jazzing up the vocals.

Crossfire

Crossfire is a witness in the secular rock world as it is a Christian band. Its outreach extends not only to CCC but also to juvenile homes, high schools, and other places of ministry. The members of the band include: Tammi, Dan, and Chris on vocals; Frank on bass; Brian on keyboards and vocals; Jonathon on drums and percussion; and Paul on guitar. Crossfire is a ministry to many people with its repertoire of songs with lyrics that relate to experiences in the world today.

(Captions from the upper left corner.) The sound of getting down — from John. Crossfire presents a lively performance. Brian, jammin' for Jesus. Chris and Tami team up to energize the crowd. Snazzy fingers make sizzling sounds. Dr. Chris operates on the audience. "Sing unto the Lord a new song."

R & B Faith

This year at CCC we were blessed to have the trio, also called R&B Faith. The members included Russ Hovanec, Brian Ehrhardt, Faith Valles, and most recently, Tamara Hahs, under the dedicated direction of Paul Thorson. They performed for the college at Glen Eyrie. It was a very successful worshipful experience. R&B Faith have continued on to minister to various churches and other organizations. Their ministry is obviously not only to the school but also to groups outside CCC.

(Captions from the upper left corner.) R&B Faith, a team on and off the stage. The members of R&B Faith — Paul Thorson, Faith Valles, Brian Ehrharte, Tamara Hahs, and Russ Hovanec. Rhythm the Russ Hovanec way.

Choir

We've been practicing The Messiah for months and still haven't got a Handel on it!" or so the joke goes.

But not so with this talented group. They turned in a fine performance this Christmas season with the Messiah, they have also shown their range with the wide variety of pieces they do, their versatility by the places they go, including our chapel, business breakfasts and churches. "Encore!"

(Captions from the upper left corner.) 1986-87 CCC Concert Choir. The soprano section concentrates on their parts. "Their voice goes out into all the earth, their words to the end of the world." Psalms 19:4. Prof. Ron Garber getting the most out of the voices in choir.

The Improv Players

The Few — With six cast members, one Asst. Director and one Director — they are few. The Prod — Handling complex topics in a single rehearsal, able to portray many characters — It's a bird, it's a plane, it's . . . the Improv Players!

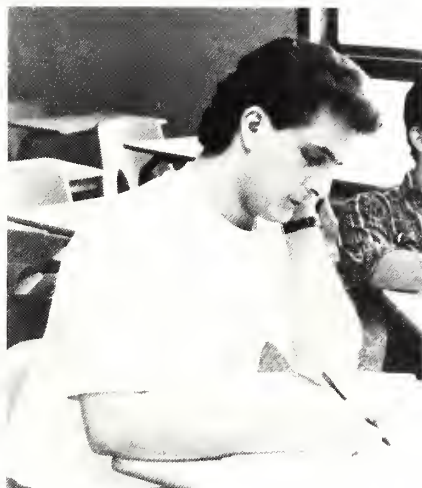

Under the direction of Teresa Choate and Tom Gannon, this brave and daring sextet perform for many adult audiences covering a wide variety of topics and all without scripts. Let's give the Improv Players a big round of applause for their hard work.

Alpha Psi Omega

Alpha Psi Omega, a national honorary drama fraternity, is behind the scenes, but very effective group. The goals of Alpha Psi this year were to raise funds for CCC's drama budget. They accomplished this by holding Ragtime Review, One Acts, and the Talent Show. Marianne Henning resides as president. Since they are very secretive, we are unable to give out any more information at this time.

Fall Production

Can one be truly good in a world where one must be self-seeking to survive? This is the question that The Good Woman of Setzuan attempted to deal with. Written by Bertolt Brecht, the play is set in an Oriental village, but is symbolic of post WWII Berlin. It was very thought provoking for us today as we live in times where we must deal with the homeless and the hungry. With Marianne Henning as the title role, the play ran for six nights. Drama teacher, Teresa Choote produced the play. Director Heidi Olsen was brought in as a guest director.

(Captions from upper left corner.) The unhappy wedding feast foreshadows the unfortunate wedding of Shen Te and Yang Sun. (Marianne Henning, Ray Brown.) The landlady waits for the rent money from Mr. ShueiTa. (Shauna Schlichenmayer, Marianne Henning) Could this be the good woman the angels are looking for? (Marianne Henning, Dan Sparkman) The constable tries to understand what is going on in the village of Setzuan. (Laura Jones, Robert Currier, Marianne Henning) Mr. ShueiTa runs off the free-loading relatives of his female alter-ego, ShenTe. (Marianne Henning) ShenTe proves her good heart by acts of charity. (Marianne Henning)

The Competition

Football

Football at CCC kicked-off to a great season! Coach Scot Wall and the team gave some excellent performances, leading to victories in many games. Faithful fans attended in blizzards and sunshine to see their team through to the end of the season, at 2nd place overall. Next year the football team is moving on to bigger and better things as they will play inter-collegiate . . . GO COUGARS!

Volleyball

The CCC Women's volleyball team played its first competitive season this year. By traveling to Nebraska, Kansas, and Oklahoma, they began to spread the Colorado Christian tradition while growing closer to each other and Christ. Vic Connor daily dedicated his time and abilities to coach the team and get their season off the ground.

(Captions from upper left corner.) Jannette Magdeson spikes the ball to the opposing team while all wait in anticipation. When coach Vic Connor speaks — no one listens. Becca Thorn and Rachel Kletke are ready for some cougar-size action. Teamwork and spirit are the keys to a successful game. Denise Keiry avoids the opposing team's block. Rosa makes an art out of the sport of volleyball. The Cougars warm up for a victory.

Men's Basketball

Under the direction of Coach Brent Carlson and captains Matt Micek and Dennis Pruessner, the basketball team played an eventful season. They experienced several successes. Fans cheered them on to many victories as well as cheers of encouragement through losses. All in all it was a great year that gave a positive outlook for an even better next year.

(Captions from upper left corner.) Linn Strock brings the ball to the hoop in a layup. Dennis "Grace" Pruessner. "We're running them like dogs! What do you want coach?!" Two more for CCC Cougars. Dennis Pruessner rises head and shoulders above the competition. Rick Larson stops the defense while Matt Micek goes for points.

Women's Basketball

The Women's basketball team had an eventful season at CCC in many ways. They had some great victories and sad losses. Trudi Zibell did a wonderful job of encouraging and teaching her girls in her first year as coach. They faced some tough competition in the conference which helped them develop teamwork. The girls made it a fun and educational season with an outstanding display of teamwork.

Ski Club

Headed by Scott Kail, the ski club has continued successfully through CCC's second year. It can be counted as a P.E. class with one credit or it can be treated as an athletic club. With its 20 members the club goes skiing each Saturday at Winter Park. For the most part, the group skis at various levels. Scott Kail taught a few out of state people how to ski. All in all, the ski club was a success.

(Captions from the upper left corner.) The 1986-87 CCC Ski Club. Oops — call the ski patrol. Jill Osterman takes a spill. Bill is ready to take on the slopes. Ken Archuleta and Wendy Tune take time out from skiing to pose for a picture.
